Awaiting your response thank youFrancisco Gallardo I love up to news, but the old update has been old and incompatible with new iPhones. They are now repaired throughout the app. All is simpler and easy to follow. I'm a invision split but I have to say this app is too poor compared to invision Facebook or invision channels. This app has a lot of things to do and changes have to do!!! The developer, Invision Interactive Media, Inc., did not provide details about its privacy practices and handling of data to Apple. The first plane in 1987 for Spanish International Network, the program provides a general department of the day's title, with a concentrated history that shattered more direction for Latin American events; history of content related to the United States on the program centers of news stories and issues of greatest importance to Hispanic and Latino America (with reports focusing on immigration and diplomatic relations with Latin America highlighted regularly, as well as issues related to government, health care and economic issues). Since 1988, the early-evening broadcast ship has been co-anchored by Jorge Ramos and María Elena Salinas; The late-evening edition of the program, Noticiero Univision: Edición Nocturna (Spanish for 'Invision News: Earth Edition'), is now annared by Iliá Calderón (who served as anchor of this edition since 2009) and Enrique Avecedo (joining the program in 2012). Weekend edition of the program, Noticiero Univision: Fin de Semana (Spanish for 'Invision News: Weekend'), are now co-anchored by Félix de Bedout (joining the program in 2011) and Arantxa Loizaga (who became co-anchor in 2014). The two evening programs are respectively broadcast live at 6:30 and 11:35 p.m. Eastern Time and Pacific Time seven nights a week (with a rebroadcast at 4:30 a.m. Eastern and Pacific). Additionally, parent Noticias Invision Air Division co-branded hours, a minute's capsules news under heading Breve Informativo de Noticiero Univision (Spanish for 'Invision News Brief') that the time during commercial breaks – except those featured during the early- and last-evening news – throughout the day broadcast on the network. Often, there will be special reports under heading special information from Notisero Univision (Spanish to 'Invision Special News Report'). He is now the most watched news of hispanic language in the United States, regularly beating his closest rival, Noticiero Telemundo's Noticero Telemundo; it also has some of the highest viciousness among key demographics of adults aged 18 to 49 among all evening news programs in the U.S., second only to NBC News tonight, and a vicious median age of 44, at least ten years younger than the average age of its English evening competitors. [1] [2] The program is based from Noticias Univision's NewsPort facilities in Doral, Florida. History as the Spanish International Network (SIN), KMEX began broadcasting news programs in June 1986, when the network destroyed a new weekly, Notisero Nacional SIN (SIN National News), which originates as a one half-hour weekly broadcast at 6:30 pm Eastern Time. In 1987, after Hispanic International Network co-founder Emilio Nicolas, Sr. and Emilio Azcáraga Milmo (co-owner of Mexican TV Televisa, supposed by ownership of warts from his father Emilio Azcáraga Vidaurreta in 1972) sold their interests to parents of the Spanish Communications Company International of Hallmark Card after the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) and the United States. The Justice Department asks them to plunge the network of a U.S.-based company amid the midday questions of Nicolas' use by the Azcárraga family family of skirts banning foreign ownership of foreign media out there. In 1987, the network – which was renamed Univision after the purchase – appointed former NBC News producer Roberto FEto to produce a boat that reviewed the evening newspaper, Notice Iniro Univision. [4] Mexican journalist born journalist Jorge Ramos - who joined SIN / Univision in 1987 as host of the network's morning program, Mundo Latino - was reassigned and paired along with newly veteran hire veteran journalist María Elena Salinas - who replaced Teresa Rodriguez as anchor - in the evening's co-anchor newspaper. [4] In 1989, the expanded program included a late-evening news release, Noticiero Univision: Edición Nocturna (Invision News: Same Edition), at 11:30 p.m. Eastern Time, which was solo cast by Ramos throughout its original run; as well as two half weekend editions under Invision's title to Notisero: Fin de Semana. For much of its existence, the last-night edition holds a similar format in early-evening broadcasts, albeit with more of a focus on major news titles and uses separate anchors on the weekend editions. In 1999, Invision hired veteran journalist Enrique Gratas - the original host of telemundo newsmagazine Ocurríoi – anchor a news review late-night, Notice Invision: Ultima Horara (Invision News: Final Time; Sergio Urquidi was immediately appointed as the weekend cast at Avi Invision and Ultima Hora. Debuting on October 25 of this year, the Hora Ultima Long Ultima (which returned in a half-hour format in 2004) was modeled after the original format of night, providing in-depth stories and analysis on three or four of the biggest day's news stories that had already been covered on the evening ship – periodically covering the late-breaking story that had occurred streaming – and interviews with newsmakers. [5] Notice of univision union univision, used on January 23 to December 31, 2012. In the summer of 2004, Telemundo signed María Antonieta Collins - who dropped ink in the weekend editions of Notiero Univision since their inception - in a long-term deal to host a morning news and lifestyle program for the network, Kada Dia and María Antonieta (Daily Mail and María Antonieta) (Collins would return to Noticias Univision as a special correspondent in 2011[6]). On October 24, 2005, Edna Schmidt – then the national news anchor of Noticators at Newsbriefs Minuto on is TeleFutura Network (now UniMás) – was named as Collins' replacement as co-anchor of the weekend news, finding Urquidi on the early evening edition. On February 28, 2009, Invision suspended the contracts of Enrique Gratas and Sergio Urquidi as part of corporate cutbacks that were affected by parent company Invision Communications spread by the British Recession and an advertising expense of advertising costs, resulting in the layers of 300 employees (or 6% of its work), as well as cancellation of the weekend edition of Newsmagazine Primary Impacto's and its companion program Prime Impacto Extra. The last-night edition keeps the Hora Ultima brand, though restoring a more traditional news format. [8] On 29 May, 2009, Enrique Teuteló - then 11: 00 p.m. anchor of Miami's invision to own-and-operate station WLV-TV-DT - was named as Urquidi's replacement on the weekend editions of the Última Hora and Avi Iniro Univision: Finish Demo Seaman. [10] On March 3, 2011, Invision correspondent Martín Berlanga announced during the late evening's edition of Ultima Hora that he would take over as weekend anchor, had replaced Enrique Teuteló, who had terminated the news division the day before (it would become immediate becoming morning co-anchor of New York City's network own-and-operate station WXTV-DT that June). Then, on March 7, the network announced that Iliá Calderón would be called anchor in the latest edition, which has retile notices of Invision's Invision Edición Nocturna, while maintaining her duties as framed in Primary Impact. [11][12] After a sabbath break of the weekend edition, Edna Schmidt was immediately reassured in the late night co-anchor of the news in late May, before being let go by Noticias Univision after 19 years with the network on September 11, 2011, while in New York City they covered their ceremony remembered on the 10th anniversary of the September 11 attacks. [13] On January 10, 2012, Invision removed Berlanga from its duties as anchor of the newspapers over the weekend after only ten months, effective after the January 15 edition of Semana End, in which Berlanga did not indicate it did not ink broadcast at the weekend; He was reassured in a corresponding role, before Berlanga departed from the network after 17 years in March. [14] [15] [16] ¡Despierta América! news co-anchor Félix Bedout and long televisa anchor /correspondent Lourdes Ramos (the main anchor of Jorge Ramos) were always referred to as his replacement; originally searching for starting together on January 21, De Bedout was ruined this week as the solo frame on Saturday and the Sunday edition, with Ramos joining him on this January 28 weekend. [17] [18] On January 23, 2012, the program introduced a new graphics package; It also rolled out production of Notisero Univision and Edición Nocturna in a new set of brands as [e]] Centro de Noticias ([The News] Center). The set was later updated to incorporate the new version of universal's universal college logo, which debuted on January 1, 2013. [19] On April 23, 2012, former Telemundo anchor and special correspondent Enrique Acevedo joined invision as a co-anchor of Notiero University: Edición Nightlife (at which time, the late editions of the weekend broadcasts adopted that same title), along with Iliá Calderón. [20] [21] In September 2012, Invision began failing in the early-evening Saturday editions of University Noticero: Fin Demana an hour earlier in the East, Central and Mountain Time Zones (at 5:30 p.m. Eastern and 4:30 p.m. in the other two) since 2012, after the addition of football matches that preceded the first time varieties of programming union varieties, over the week which matches those are scheduled to air in the regular newscast 6:30/5:30 times. On October 1, 2012, the Academy of Arts TV and Sciences honored main anchors Jorge Ramos and María Elena Salinas with the Accomplishments of 33rd Life Awards & Awards; The Award portrays waivers for the work of journalists and notices of the Univision Union and its parents' news division. [22] In September 2013, Invision moved production to its evening news in the Invision News, based in a former converted office and complex warehouse near the headquarters of invision headquarters in Miami from Doral, Florida that would also house the operations of Merging, the new Corporate Cable Invision and ABC News. The NewsPort houses five studios and five control rooms, one of which – located directly next to the news desks – began housing Centro de Noticias set in February 2015, after the completion of the gathering set in the NewsPort building; All the broadcasts of Univision Univision were conducted in the interim news.[23] On July 14, 2014, Lourdes Ramos stepped down as the weekend co-again relaxed in Madrid with her husband, although he would stay with Noticias University as a special correspondent. [24] On September 3, 2014, Noticias Univision announced that Arantxa Loizaga (which joined the network in 2007 from San Antonio owned-and-operated KWEX-DT stations, where he served as anchor at his 10:00 p.m. newscast and co-host of community affairs program, Portada San Antonio) would become co-anchor of Invision Noticero: Fine de Oath, effective Saturday, September 6.
